Hemp Derived Delta-8-THC

THE ΔAMERICAN
CANNABINOID
ΔSSOCIATION

The American Cannabinoid Association provides educational and legislative resources to members and affiliates of the Cannabinoid Industry. This includes retailers, wholesalers, farmers, processors, law firms and law enforcement professionals.

This Association was founded with the intention of protecting the research, development, commerce and legislation pertaining to the industry.

In order to fully realize the potential of this opportunity, we must work together to move the Cannabinoid Industry forward as safely and effectively as possible.

In just a few short years, this Industry has become the most successful bipartisan initiative of our lifetime. People from all over this country, regardless of their race, religion or political affiliation, have experienced the economic, cultural and scientific benefits of this movement. That's why the American Cannabinoid Association is so important. This Association will allow us to embrace our momentum and fundamentally improve our country.

The Legality of Delta-8-THC

This industry is brand new to everyone.

Remember that literally overnight plant material that looked and smelled like “Marijuana” suddenly became a legal, commercial-scale agricultural crop. Similarly, unique chemical components contained-within or derived-from this new agricultural commodity went from being completely misunderstood to being completely protected at the Federal Level.

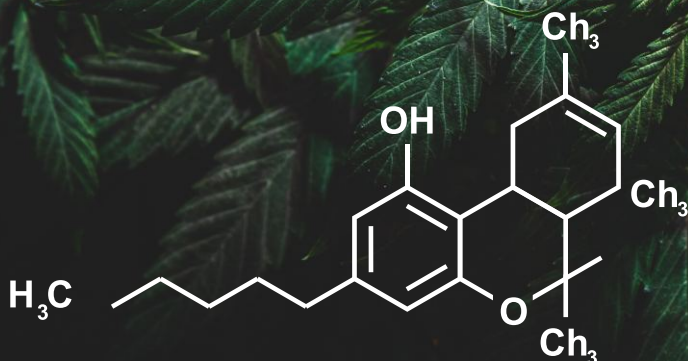

As a result of such a drastic and immediate shift in policy, consumers, entrepreneurs, and law enforcement professionals have been working to interpret this legislation as accurately as possible.

Congress is the lawmaking body with constitutional authority to write laws and pass bills. The 2018 Farm Bill, which was crafted by Congress and signed into law by the President, clearly establishes legislative intent that specifically protects Hemp.

“The term ‘hemp’ means the plant Cannabis sativa L. and any part of that plant, including the seeds thereof and all derivatives, extracts, cannabinoids, isomers, acids, salts, and salts of isomers, whether growing or not, with a delta-9 tetrahydrocannabinol concentration of not more than 0.3 percent on a dry weight basis.”

This is important because regulatory agencies do not have the constitutional authority necessary to change this law. Until Congress passes an amendment or updates the language of the Farm Bill in 2022, the Federal definition of Hemp that protects Delta-8-THC and other emerging cannabinoids remains the law of the land.

In order to protect the legal nature of your Delta-8-THC, you need to prioritize seed-to-sale traceability. You also need to make sure that you are licensed in your State and that you are following all of their guidelines including local labeling laws. Finally, it is important to recognize that, while federally protected, Delta-8-THC is not legal in every state and municipality. Crumble

Delta 8 THC Crumble Wax Dabs is a common type of concentrate that is extremely popular for its preservation of terpenes. The process of making crumble is very similar to shatter, but the lower temperatures used during the manufacturing allows for extra terpenes/flavor to be present.
